R 1200 RT (2010 – 2013)

The oil cooler is positioned in exactly the place required by air flow, although a consequence of this is that it very quickly becomes clogged up: Stone chips, dead flies and other detritus accumulate in its fine ribbing.

Cleaning it is very difficult and requires a lot of manual work. The fine-mesh stainless steel cooler protection grill provides effective protection for the cooler and ensures optimal long-term cooling air flow. As a normal grill is very difficult to attach behind the original kidney, we have developed a complete add-on surround that can simply be fixed over the original.

Just apply the included self-adhesive strip and fix the mask in place with one quick movement. The surround is thermoformed out of very robust, solidcoloured ABS plastic. Titanium silver with an extremely robust clear plastic coating that enhances the depth effect and protects the colour.

The facts:

Optimum protection for the cooler, successfully combined with style.
Safely protects the cooler from stone chips and fly squash etc.

Easy to fit.

Durable construction.

Silver anodised mesh.

Solid titanium silver-coloured ABS plastic with a clear plastic protective coating.

Ready to fit - does not need painting etc.

TÜV exempt.

Made in Germany.
